Dear Employer,

Lisa Casarrubias was employed by York School of Foreign Languages from 30th June, 2008 to 22nd August, 2008 as a full time ESL teacher. Her duties involved the teaching of English as a second language to students ranging from 6 years old to adult and from beginner to high level advanced.

Lisa performed her duties to an exceptional level and remained one of our most respected and popular teachers among the students. The care Lisa took in her work was evident not only in the concern for her students but in the work she did on developing resources for the school and helping course development.

Lisa has shown herself to be not only diligent to a given task but creative in its application and due to her strong desire for personal development always strove to improve both in her work and in learning the Chinese language and culture.

Lisa will be sorely missed at York School where she remained a dedicated teacher and a fantastic colleague. I would strongly recommend Lisa for any future position and wish her the best of luck.

Sincerely,
